The Apollo Diversified Credit Fund is a diversified, closed-end management investment company that is operated as an interval fund. The Fund invests at least 80% of its total assets in debt securities. This investment involves a high degree of risk. An investor should invest in the Fund only if the investor can afford the complete loss of an investment. Prospective investors should carefully read the Fund's prospectus for a description of the risk associated with an investment in the Fund in determining whether an investment in the Fund is suitable. These risks include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Limited Liquidity. An investor should consider an investment in the Fund to be of limited liquidity and is suitable only for investors who can bear the risks associated with the limited liquidity of the Fund and should be viewed as a long-term investment. The Fund's shares are not listed on any securities exchange, and no secondary public market for the sale of the Fund's interests exists, nor is one likely or expected to develop. As described in the prospectus under "Quarterly Repurchases of Shares," the Fund provides limited liquidity through quarterly offers to repurchase a limited amount of the Fund's shares (at least 5% of the Fund's outstanding shares); however, there is no guarantee that an investor will be able to sell all the shares that the investor desires to sell in the repurchase offer.
- Below Investment Grade. The Fund invests in securities that are rated below investment grade by rating agencies or that would be rated below investment grade if they were rated. Below investment grade securities, which are often referred to as "junk," have predominantly speculative characteristics with respect to the issuer's capacity to pay interest and repay principal. They may also be illiquid and difficult to value. Lower grade instruments may be particularly susceptible to economic downturns, which could adversely affect the ability of the issuers of such instruments to repay principal and pay interest thereon, increase the incidence of default for such instruments and severely disrupt the market value of such instruments.

- Use of Leverage. The Fund utilizes leverage which will magnify the potential for loss on amounts invested in the Fund.
- Fees and Expenses. The Fund is subject to charges for management and other fees regardless of whether the Fund has a positive return. Please refer to the Fund's prospectus for a complete description of expenses to be charged to the Fund.
- Distributions. The Fund will ordinarily pay distributions, if any, once a quarter. There is no assurance that the Fund's distribution rate will be sustainable in the future nor are distributions guaranteed. The Fund may pay distributions in significant part from sources that may not be available in the future and that may be unrelated to the Fund's performance, such as return of capital and borrowings. Shareholders should note that a return of capital will reduce the tax basis of their shares and potentially increase the taxable gain, if any, upon disposition of their shares. Please refer to the Fund's most recent Section 19(a) notice, available at www.apollo.com/adcf, for an estimate of the composition of the Fund's most recent distribution which includes a de minimis return of capital. The Fund's semi-annual and annual reports filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") are available on the Fund's website and include additional information regarding the composition of distributions. The Fund's distributions may be affected by numerous factors, including but not limited to changes in Fund expenses including the amount of expenses waived by the Fund's Adviser, investment performance, realized and projected market returns, fluctuations in market interest rates, and other factors.
- Potential Loss of Investment. Investing in the Fund is speculative and involves a high degree of risk and no guarantee or representation is made that the Fund's investment strategy will be successful under all market conditions, nor do we guarantee any level of return or risk. An investment in the Fund could require a long-term commitment, with limited liquidity and the risk of loss of capital. Investors must have the financial ability, sophistication, experience and willingness to evaluate the merits and bear the risks of such an investment. Such an investment is not suitable for all potential investors. Investors could lose part or all of an investment, and the Fund could incur losses in markets where major indices are rising and falling. Results could be volatile. Accordingly, investors should understand that past performance is not indicative nor a guarantee of future results. Investors in the Fund should understand that the net asset value of the Fund will fluctuate, which may result in a loss of the principal amount invested. The Fund's investments may be negatively affected by the broad investment environment and capital markets in which the Fund invests. The value of the Fund's investments will increase or decrease based on changes in the prices of the investments it holds. This will cause the value of the Fund's shares to increase or decrease. The Fund is "diversified" under the Investment Company Act of 1940. Diversification does not eliminate the risk of experiencing investment losses. The Fund is not intended to be a complete investment program.
